A Day in Financial Markets: Exclusive Event

Date: November 6, 2018

Location: Brand new, state-of-the-art trading floor location in central Frankfurt, Mainzer Landstraße 11-18

The feeling you get when you realize you have what it takes to succeed in the Financial Markets is exhilarating. Join us for an exclusive opportunity to discover this for yourself as you spend the day with Deutsche Bank's Global Markets division. You'll get an opportunity to participate in an interactive trading floor experience, demonstrate your qualitative and quantitative abilities during a case study session, and connect with Deutsche Bank senior staff during a networking lunch and dinner event.

Why you should attend:

- Get an exclusive insight in what it takes to work at Deutsche Bank Global Markets
- Network with DB front-office staff and hiring decision makers
- Receive individual guidance from a key DB Global Markets employee during the event and beyond
- Get an edge on internship & graduate opportunities

Do you qualify?

- Must be in semester 3 or higher of bachelor studies or enrolled in a master's programme
- Be fluent in German and/or English
- Have relevant experience in finance (theoretical & practical)
- Show a passion for financial markets
- Clearly demonstrate excellence, high integrity and a driven personality on your CV

How to apply

If you meet the qualifications above and are ready to take your career plans to the next level, upload your CV and a brief motivation letter at <http://po.st/ADayInFinancialMarkets>. Successful candidates will be contacted for a phone interview before final selections are made. Application is open until October 26, 2018, however we select applicants on an ongoing basis and the limited amount of available spots might fill up earlier.
